Two Arrive for Conference

West to Confront Russia With Plan

German Peace Program Will Be Offered, if Reds Are Serious

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—The western powers are planning to confront Russia with a three-point German peace program at the Berlin conference, if it appears that the Soviets show up with some serious intention to negotiate.

One effect of the program worked out by the United States, British and French governments in a series of meetings recently concluded at Paris would be, in the view of western officials, to wipe out the Communist East German government.

It therefore appears in advance to be wholly unacceptable to the Soviets. Authorities here voice doubt that even a start can be made at Berlin toward developing a real compromise between the Russian and western attitudes toward Germany's future.

To Go Beyond Problem

There is now ample evidence, however, that the discussions between western leaders and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov in the war-battered old German capital will range far beyond the immediate problem of German peace-making to embrace:

1. Some talk between Secretary of State Dulles and Molotov on President Eisenhower's proposal for a pool of atomic materials for peaceful uses and Russia's renewed call for a ban on atomic weapons.

2. Discussion among all the ministers—Molotov, Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and the French foreign minister then in office—of relations with Red China. That seems almost certain to lead into some talk of a Korean settlement and the war in Indo-China.

3. Exploration by the west of the attitudes and intentions of Russia's new Malenkov government in whatever way they can get evidence on the matter from the poker-faced Molotov.

To Talk With Molotov

Dulles disclosed last week he was planning to discuss the atomic situation with Molotov. The Russians served notice in one of their notes on the Berlin meeting that they would press for a subsequent Big Five session to include Red China.

In the meantime officials here expect some preliminary exchanges on the atomic problem between Washington and Moscow.

The Berlin conference originally proposed by the western powers to begin today, was delayed at Moscow's request until Jan. 25.

Governor to Ask Legislature To Approve Mental Bills

Albany, Jan. 4 (AP)—Gov. Dewey will ask the Legislature to approve a "grass-roots" program designed to stem a rising tide of mental illness.

The program would extend to communities the option of establishing permanent local mental health services, much like the public health service program.

Counties participating would receive financial aid on a 50-50 basis from the state.

Dewey will appeal for the plan in his message to the Legislature Wednesday. It reflects his belief that early detection and treatment of emotional disturbances offer the only "real hope" of coping with mental illness.

Other Dewey proposals include establishment of a code of "fair procedure" to protect witnesses, investigators and the public's right to information in hearings at state probate courts.

Air Force Is Rushing Its Plane Work

Half of Fleet Composed of Swift Jet Bombers — 4 Wings Made Up of B36s

BY ELTON C. FAY
(AP Military Affairs Reporter)

Washington, Jan. 4 (AP)—The air force, racing against the growth of Russian airpower, now has at least half its fleet of strategic medium bombers composed of swift, high altitude jet craft.

And by the end of this year the last of the World War 2 design conventional engined B29 and B50 bombers may be gone from the medium wings, replaced by the atom bomb toting Boeing B47 jets.

These developments apparently figured in the recent decision to rely less on manpower and more on airpower to maintain the U. S. military position in the Far East.

In 1953, deliveries of all types of military planes from the aircraft industry totalled about 12,000.

Wings Are Increased

Accelerated deliveries coupled with crew training during recent months it was learned today, have enabled the strategic air command to raise to between eight and ten the number of medium bomber wings equipped with B47s. A wing of that type normally contains 45 planes.

The rapid increase in the Soviet Union's operating air fleet of jet and rocket-powered interceptors has made more urgent the conversion of the U. S. strategic fleet from the slow (400 miles an hour) piston-engined bombers to the high speed (over 600 miles per hour) jet planes.

For long range heavy bombardment the air force at present has about four wings (30 planes each) of Convair B36 bombers. These huge planes can carry 40 tons of bombs of any kind, including hydrogen weapons, at moderate ranges and operate over a radius of more than 5,000 miles with less load. Their speed has been stepped up to above 435 miles by adding four jet engines to the six piston engines which give the bomber its ultra-long distance.

To Deliver B32

Delivery of the first production items of the Boeing B32 heavy, all-jet bomber is expected to start next fall. That plane, while lacking the range of the piston-engined B36, flies faster than even the medium B47. To compensate for the high fuel consumption of the jet engines, the B32 is being equipped for mid-air refueling from tanker planes, thus extending its range substantially.

Presumably it was with these factors in mind that President Eisenhower spoke last week of "our growing national air power," which he said possesses greater mobility and striking power than ever before. In that same statement announcing the planned withdrawal of two army divisions from Korea he warned that, if the Asiatic Communists should break the truce in Korea, in all probability it would not be possible to confine hostilities to Korea. His views were repeated later by Secretary of State Dulles.

Rendezvous Is Secret

There was some speculation that Gouzenko had been brought to the hotel for the interview, but the party's later departure seemed to indicate they were headed for a secret rendezvous.

Jenner and McCarran were accompanied by their committee's associate counsel, J. G. Sourine, and an official reporter, U. S. Ambassador Douglas Stuart also attended the hotel conference and left with the group.

McCarran had told reporters the four-man U. S. team planned to stay in Canada until "the mission is completed." Jenner said they hoped to be back in Washington for the opening of Congress Wednesday.

Jenner, the subcommittee chairman, said he and McCarran are concerned with the internal security of our country."

Vaselewski Baby Is First of 1954

The first 1954 baby was a boy born at Kingston Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vaselewski, of 124 Hasbrouck avenue at 3:20 a. m. Jan. 1.

The second, a girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Golgoski, of 110 Greenhill avenue, arrived at Benedictine Hospital at 4:32 a. m., and was named Kathleen. The other hospital indicated that the Vaselewskis had not yet chosen a name for their son.

Woman Is Indicted

Goshen, Jan. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Jenny Joseph, 28, of Bullville, was indicted today on a first degree murder charge in connection with the drowning of her eight-year-old daughter. On Nov. 15, while her husband, Manfred, was out of their home, Mrs. Joseph telephoned police that "something had happened" to her daughter, Evelyn. It was the Josephs' 11th wedding anniversary. The child was found dead in a water-filled bathtub. Mrs. Joseph was near her, her wrists slashed. Mrs. Joseph currently is in Middletown State Hospital undergoing mental tests.

Poster Boy Is Featured

Middletown, Jan. 4 (AP)—State Assemblyman Wilson Van Duzer said today he has applied for appointment as trustee of the bankrupt Ontario & Western Railroad. The line is under court jurisdiction because of the bankruptcy and Federal Judge Edward A. Conger will name a trustee to succeed Ferdinand J. Sieghardt, who resigned last week. Judge Conger has indicated he may announce the appointment Wednesday, when a show cause order as to why the company should not be sold will be argued before him in New York.

Montreal, Jan. 4 (AP)—Strict official secrecy and thick Canadian snow covered the tracks of U. S. Senators William Jenner (R-Ind.) and Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) today in their quest for what Igor Gouzenko knows about Soviet spying in the United States.

The two top members of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee arrived here yesterday in a blaze of publicity for their secret meeting with the former Soviet code clerk whose 1945 flight from the Russian embassy in Ottawa revealed Communist atom spies in America and Britain.

After a news conference and a closely-guarded, six-hour parley in the Windsor Hotel with Capt. J. R. Lemieux of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the senators and Lemieux slipped into an official car late yesterday afternoon and drove rapidly off into the snowstorm which blanketed Montreal.

His views were repeated later by Secretary of State Dulles.

UN Commander Reports All Anti-Reds Will Be Released Jan. 23; Stand Praised

Munsan, Korea, Jan. 4 (AP)—The UN commander, Gen. John E. Hull, today blamed the Communists for the breakdown of prisoner explanations and said without qualification that all anti-Red prisoners will be freed at midnight Jan. 22.

To drive home the UNC demand that the captives be released "as of 12:04 a. m. Jan. 23," U. S. Marines and engineers began stringing miles of barbed wire fences to channel the prisoners from neutral zone compounds to rail heads.

Hull reiterated the UN command's position in a strongly-worded letter to Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

Report Is Blasted

The UN command blasted as one-sided and slanted a report by Indian, Polish and Czech members of the repatriation commission that accused the UNC of maintaining control over the anti-Red prisoners.

The UN command, Hull declared, "categorically denies any implication that we have attempted, in any way, to exercise control to the slightest degree over" the prisoners.

He said the communist high command caused the collapse of the explanation program by:

1. Unreasonable and changing demands for the explanation facilities.

2. Refusal to accept reasonable numbers of willing prisoners for explanations each day.

3. The Reds' rejection of available explanation time unless the NNRC and Indian custodial troops approve all their demands—including the use of force to make POWs listen to explanations.

UNC Fully Prepared

Hull told Thimayya the UNC is fully prepared to handle the 20,000 North Korean and Chinese prisoners who refuse to return to their Red-ruled homelands.

UN officers said rail car and truck convoys will be waiting south of the demilitarized zone for freed anti-Communist prisoners and that ships at Inchon will be ready to carry any of the 14,000 Chinese who may wish to go to Formosa.

Thimayya, after reading Hull's statement, commented to newsmen:

"It has always been the Indian position that the two sides must agree to any detention of prisoners after Jan. 22. If the two sides do not agree, we will, of course, have to devise some means of releasing them."

short time later, however, Thimayya noted after an NNRC meeting that "we will have to decide how this problem is to be solved. If there is a wide difference we will have to discuss what to do."

The Communists are bitterly opposed to freeing the prisoners when the Jan. 22 deadline rolls around, demanding that a yet-to-be convened Korean peace conference decide their fate.

Eight Children Die in 2 Fires

Old Orchard Beach, Maine, Jan. 4 (P)—Eight young children perished today in two separate fires, five in their dwelling at this ocean resort and three in a flame-swept cottage at North Seabago, 20 miles to the northwest. The two mothers were burned in futile rescue efforts.

Four brothers and a sister, children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Whitcomb, were trapped in upstairs bedrooms of their two-story home at Atlantic avenue here. Their mother leaped from a window after trying vainly to save them.

At North Seabago, three preschool age children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Metzger, died in their winterized cottage near the shore of Seabago Lake. Mrs. Metzger, an expectant mother, was burned on the face and her hair was singed.

Mrs. Whitcomb told a physician who treated her that she believed she heard one of the children downstairs and went to investigate. She found the house afire but couldn't find any of the children.

Weekend Deaths Short of Record

(By The Associated Press)

Accidental deaths during the three-day New Year's weekend were just shy of the record set three years ago, but still were far below the total registered a week earlier during the Christmas weekend.

At least 298 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday to midnight Sunday. Another 39 died in fires and 71 more were killed in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 408.

The record for a three-day New Year's weekend was set at 424 in 1949-50 and equalled the following year; the record of traffic deaths for such a period, set in 1949-50 is 304.

There appeared little prospect that the National Safety Council's first estimate that 360 would die on the highways and streets during that period would be fulfilled.

The holiday weekend toll was approaching, however, the figures for a non-holiday weekend obtained by an Associated Press survey early in December. Those were 310 traffic, 33 fire and 89 miscellaneous for a total of 432.

Set in Two Years

New Year's accident records were set in the past two years during four-day weekends—a 611 total for 1951-52 and 407 traffic deaths in 1953-54.

The 1953 Christmas weekend saw 717 persons die in accidents, 523 in traffic mishaps. Both figures were slightly under records for three-day Christmas weekends but well short of the records set in four-day periods—556 traffic deaths in 1952, 789 deaths from all accidents in 1951.

The 1953-54 New Year's toll by states, traffic, fires, miscellaneous: Alabama 6 2 0; Arizona 1 0; Arkansas 4 1 0; California 22 1 4; Colorado 0 0 1; Connecticut 5 0 2; Delaware 1 0 0; Florida 11 0 3; Georgia 9 3 1; Idaho 1 1 0; Illinois 23 3 1; Indiana 5 0 1; Iowa 0 0 2; Kansas 1 0 4; Kentucky 6 0 2; Louisiana 7 0 5; Maine 0 1 0; Maryland 5 2 0.

Massachusetts 5 2 3; Michigan 16 1 2; Minnesota 6 0 0; Mississippi 2 0 0; Missouri 8 2 1; Montana 1 5 3; Nebraska 4 0 1; New Jersey 6 1 6; New Mexico 4 0 0; New York 22 8 6; North Carolina 4 0 2; North Dakota 2 0 0; Ohio 15 1 4.

Oklahoma 6 0 0; Oregon 3 1 4; Pennsylvania 24 0 2; Rhode Island 0 0 1; South Carolina 5 0 1; Tennessee 4 1 0; Texas 23 2 8; Utah 1 0 0; Vermont 2 0 0; Virginia 8 0 0; Washington 0 1 1; West Virginia 3 0 2; Wisconsin 7 0 0; Wyoming 4 0 0.

Talks Are Started To Form Tax Program

Wants Bigger Cuts

Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) have opened a series of conferences to try to fashion a tax program on which Republicans can unite for 1954.

The two leaders conferred privately yesterday, met again at the White House today, and reportedly scheduled further talks on the touchy tax issue.

Will Protect Insured

Albany, Jan. 4 (P)—The Insurance Federation of New York State today announced a plan it said would make unnecessary compulsory automobile liability insurance and would give insured motorists financial protection against uninsured drivers.

The administration has postponed final decisions on many tax questions pending the all important conferences with Reed and others this week. This is one reason why President Eisenhower will discuss taxes only generally in his State of the Union message Thursday, submitting a more specific program later.

Would Protect Insured

Albany, Jan. 4 (P)—The Insurance Federation of New York State today announced a plan it said would make unnecessary compulsory automobile liability insurance and would give insured motorists financial protection against uninsured drivers.

Everette H. Hunt, federation counsel, said the proposal would be submitted to the 1954 session of the Legislature, which convenes Wednesday. He said it had been endorsed by all insurance companies doing business in the state. The companies would set up a non-profit corporation to administer the program at no cost to the state, Hunt said.

Banton Moore Dead

Poughkeepsie, Jan. 4 (P)—Banton Moore, 77, an attorney of Howewell Junction and New York City, died yesterday at Vassar Hospital. Death was due to head injuries he received Sunday when he fell on him while he was at work building a garage on his property. Moore, a native of Waco, Tex., practiced law with his son, James I. Moore, with offices in Liberty street, New York city. He was described as a leading legal authority on under-water lands in New York city.

Arrested on Warrant

Louis Blair, 27, of Newburgh was arrested there Sunday on a warrant charging him with leaving the scene of an accident last August at Walker Valley, state police of Ellenville reported. Troopers accused Blair of failing to stop and identify himself after the automobile he was driving struck and damaged the Walker Valley Firehouse in August, 1953. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Seth Lippincott of Wallkill, Blair pleaded innocent and was released on $25 for a hearing Jan. 19.

$42,800 Collected In Parking Meters During '53 Year

Parking meter collections here totalled $42,800 in 1953, the city treasurer's office reported today.

This was $2,080 more than the 1952 total, and $5,300 more than the $37,500 collected in 1951.

December with a total of $4,100 led 1953 for the highest amount collected in one month. Second was August when $3,800 was collected and third was April with $3,700.

Last month's total was $3,50 ahead of November, but led December, 1952 by only $36.

Assistant DA Is Selected for New Office by Stang

Financial and Commercial

New York, Jan. 4 (P)—Some difficulty was experienced by the stock market today in maintaining slight progress.

Price changes ran about a point either way with the plus signs maintaining a small numerical edge.

Volume was moderate at a rate of around a million and a half shares. That was considerably less than Thursday's total of 2,490,000 when trading boomed up in a last minute rush of trading.

Railroads were higher on balance, and others in that category were coppers, golds, steels, and air lines. In the mixed group were the utilities, motors, motion pictures, aircrafts, and radio-television.

On the depressed side were the oils and chemicals.

There were few weekend developments with a broad market bearing. Many were disposed to await President Eisenhower's message tonight before making any major market moves, although no surprises were expected in the address.

Eight Children Die in 2 Fires

Old Orchard Beach, Maine, Jan. 4 (P)—Eight young children perished today in two separate fires, five in their dwelling at this ocean resort and three in a flame-swept cottage at North Seabago, 20 miles to the northwest. The two mothers were burned in futile rescue efforts.

Four brothers and a sister, children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Whitecomb, were trapped in upstairs bedrooms of their two-story home at Atlantic avenue here. Their mother leaped from a window after trying vainly to save them.

At North Seabago, three preschool age children of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Metzger died in their winterized cottage near the shore of Seabago Lake. Mrs. Metzger, an expectant mother, was burned on the face and her hair was singed.

Mrs. Whitcomb told a physician who treated her that she believed she heard one of the children downstairs and went to investigate. She found the house afire but couldn't find any of the children.

Talks Are Started To Form Tax Program

Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) have opened a series of conferences to try to fashion a tax program on which Republicans can unite for 1954.

The two leaders conferred privately yesterday met again at the White House today, and reportedly scheduled further talks on the touchy tax issue.

Wants Bigger Cuts

Reed, chairman of the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee, already has called for more and bigger tax cuts than the Eisenhower Administration has been willing to accept so far.

Just how far the two men get in trying to reconcile their positions, will largely determine whether tax issues will become a major battle ground within the GOP in this congressional campaign year.

The administration has postponed final decisions on many tax questions pending the all important conferences with Reed and others this week. This is one reason why President Eisenhower will discuss taxes only generally in his State of the Union message Thursday, submitting a more specific program later.

15 Killed in Wreck

New Delhi, Jan. 4 (P)—At least 15 persons were killed and more than 40 injured in the derailment at dawn today of a speeding passenger train near Bhatinda, 150 miles northwest of New Delhi. The nationalized Indian Railways said 15 bodies were removed up to noon, seven hours after the wreck occurred. Of the 40 injured, at least 10 were seriously hurt. The train, en route from Bhatinda to New Delhi, left the track while crossing a canal bridge.

Rose Not Talking

New York, Jan. 4 (P)—Billy Rose wasn't talking today about a report he has secretly agreed to give his estranged wife, Eleanor Holm, $600 a week permanent alimony, plus a lump settlement of $175,000 to $225,000. "No comment," he said. "I'd rather not discuss it." The pint-sized theatrical producer and columnist reluctantly said something might be said on the subject later.

Massey Is Named

Naples, Italy, Jan. 4 (P)—Capt. Forsythe Massey, U. S. Navy of Newton, N. J., was named today chief of staff of the naval striking and support forces of NATO's south European command here. He succeeds U. S. Navy Capt. Garrett Adams.

Poughkeepsie, Jan. 4 (P)—Banton Moore, 72, a Poughkeepsie attorney for more than 40 years, died of a heart attack yesterday at his home here. Hackett served in the Assembly from 1922 to 1930. He was a member of the Ways and Means committee and sponsored bills that led to the construction of the Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie. He was a brother of the late Henry Hackett, who served as an executor and trustee of the estate of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Investigate Burglary

Defectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons today were investigating a burglary at 519 Broadway, where about $75 was reported taken from a cash drawer of The Beacon Co., a clothing manufacturing concern, which occupies the second floor of the bank building. The thief was believed to have been committed over the holiday weekend. Entrance was gained through a rear window.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Jan. 4 (P)—The position of the treasury Dec. 30: Cash balance, $4,470,547,051.06; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $26,138,875,832.73; budget expenditures fiscal year, $34,638,217,746.10; budget deficit, $8,499,341,913.37; total debt, $274,809,254,158.92; gold assets, $22,029,174,652.74; ($*) includes $572,887,562.26 debt not subject to statutory limit.

Arrested on Warrant

Louis Blair, 27, of Newburgh was arrested there Sunday on a warrant charging him with leaving the scene of an accident last August at Walker Valley, state police of Ellenville reported. Troopers accused Blair of failing to stop and identify himself after the automobile he was driving struck and damaged the Walker Valley Firehouse in August, 1953. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Seth Lippincott of Wallkill, Blair pleaded innocent and was released on $25 for a hearing Jan. 19.

Wallet With Cash, Check Returned; Found in Roadway

There's honesty in the world, according to William Tubby of 208 Broadway, or he'd be minus more than $100.

Tubby said his wife, Rita, dropped his wallet early Friday on second avenue, containing $93 in cash and a check for $16.

For seven hours, the Tubbys were deeply concerned. Then the phone rang. The call was from Mrs. Louise Swiat of 40 Larch street, he said, with the welcome announcement that she had found the wallet in the roadway.

Mrs. Swiat contacted the owner through identification papers in the billfold.

Tubby said he thought the story worth reporting to the press to prove that there are honest people in a topsy turvy world generally thought to be overrun by greed.

County Legion Plans Meeting on Wednesday

Announcement was made today of the Ulster county committee meeting of the American Legion scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 6, at the Lamouree-Hackett Post rooms, Saugerties, at 8:15 p.m.

Clarence Brown, county commander, has requested a full attendance so that matters vital to the organization may be discussed.

Dikes Withstand Storm

London, Jan. 4 (AP)—Western Europe's dikes and sea walls, aged bastions against the raging oceans, stood strong and firm to day after 24 hours of battering by gale-churned seas. Anxious watchers, remembering when flood waters burst through the dykes and wrecked vast areas of the low countries and eastern England last February, sighed with relief as they watched the seas die down today. But the storm which smashed the calm of Europe's winter with sudden force yesterday still raged in many places. Blizzards and heavy snow falls were reported from Scandinavia down to Italy.

The state of Michigan borders on four of the Great Lakes: Superior, Michigan, Huron and Erie.

Democrats Pledge Investigation of Dewey in 1954

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Democratic state committee today set its sights on the November gubernatorial election, with its 1954 legislative program pledging a "bi-partisan investigation of corruption in the Dewey administration."

The committee announced last night a 14-point legislative program which also urged the enactment of a state-wide minimum wage of $1.00 an hour, an increase in state income tax exemptions and more state financial aid for New York city and other "hard-pressed municipalities."

Democratic State Chairman Richard H. Balch said in a separate statement that the program "charts the course our party will follow in the 1954 legislative and the gubernatorial campaign that will follow."

In Albany, the Republican State Chairman, Dean P. Taylor, said the Democratic program "insults the intelligence of the people and sinks to an all-time low in demagoguery."

Taylor said it "proposes increased spending of hundreds of millions of dollars and at the same time pretends to favor tax reduction . . . a terrific trick—as long as they only have to talk about it and do not have to perform it."

Outline of Program

The substance of the Democratic program:

Agriculture—An investigation of the division of milk control in the department of agriculture and markets "with the aim of stopping the powerful dealer monopoly which is now depriving our dairy farmers of a just price for their milk . . . A further investigation of the antiquated system of marketing other farm produce with the end in view of lowering the price to the consumer and raising the price to the producer by means of regional and public markets, coordination of transportation facilities and manufacturing and processing operations."

Civil rights—A more effective administration and enforcement of the present state anti-discrimination laws."

Civil Service—Immediate return to a genuine merit system," cost-of-living pay increases to state employees and the freezing of 1951 and 1952 temporary emergency pay boosts into the state's permanent salary scale.

Government Check

Corruption in government—"A sweeping, bi-partisan investigation of corruption in the Dewey administration with special emphasis on the phases on the Department of Correction and Board of Parole, the Harness Racing Commission, the State Liquor Authority, the Thruway Authority, the Department of Insurance and the Attorney General's Office."

Education—Additional state aid, a $500 million dollar bond issue for school construction and state support of educational television.

Health—Funds for additional state hospitals and mental institutions.

Highways—Development of a long-range improvement program for rehabilitation of the state's roads.

Housing—A 300 million dollar bond issue for low-income housing, a "constructive, long-range solution to the problem of middle income housing" and a rollback in rents to the May 31, 1953, level.

Labor—Elimination of regional wage boards and a $1.00 an hour minimum wage, legislation to add to the benefits of working men and women under the Unemployment Insurance Law and the Workmen's Compensation Law, a strict code of minimum standards for migratory workers and state aid for care centers for children of working mothers.

Permanent personal registration is "compulsory state-wide system of permanent personal registration."

Would Develop Area

St. Lawrence-Niagara—" . . . development for the benefit of power consumers of this state and not for bus bar sale of the power to favored private power companies under the Dewey program."

Social welfare—A permanent state commission on the aging persons, statewide standards for county homes for the aged and state payment to localities of 80 per cent of hospital expenses of the indigent sick and of the cost of placement of dependent children.

State aid—Immediate financial relief for New York city and other "hard-pressed municipalities," an end to "expenditures mandated by the state on the localities unless the state provides the revenue to meet these obligations" and the return to New York city and Nassau and Saratoga counties of "their rightful share" in parimutuel flat track taxes.

Taxation—An increase of personal exemptions for income tax purposes from $1,000 to $1,250 for single persons, from $2,500 to $3,100 for heads of family or married persons and from $400 to $500 for each dependent; also increased personal exemptions for working mothers.

The Democratic announcement, which said implementing legislation will be introduced "immediately upon the opening" of the legislature in Albany on Wednesday, said the program was worked out at a series of conferences and consultations attended by Democratic legislators and county leaders and representatives of social, labor, farm and business groups.

Pollution Steps Given Approval

Albany, Jan. 4 (AP)—The State Health Commissioner has approved pollution-abatement plans for two drainage basins—one in the Catskill and one in Suffolk county.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe said yesterday sewage and industrial wastes were the main causes of pollution in the Rondout creek-Walkill River basin, which covers about 856 square miles in Orange, Sullivan and Ulster counties.

He blames waste from 24 duck farms for pollution in the Peconic river-Flanders Bay basin, which covers about 100 square miles in the central part of Suffolk county.

Hilleboe, who is also chairman of the Water Pollution Control Board, estimated about 1,800,000 ducks were raised in the area each year.

Appointments Made

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 4 (AP)—Democratic Gov.-elect Robert B. Meyner today named his campaign manager, Edward J. Patten of Perth Amboy, secretary of state and appointed two others to cabinet posts. The nomination of Patten, which has been anticipated for several weeks, was announced formally by Meyner at one of two news conferences.

Meyner also named Mayor William Howe Davis, 49, of Orange, director of the Division of Alcohol Beverages Control and Floyd Hoffman, 60, of Califon, a Hunterdon county businessman, director of the Office of Milk Industry.

Parts of Kremlin Opened

Moscow, Jan. 4 (AP)—Premier Georgi Malenkov's government is giving thousands of Russians a New Year's present they never dreamed of—a look-see inside the tightly guarded Kremlin. Beginning last Friday, the government opened parts of the great walled group of palaces, churches and government buildings in the heart of Moscow to a 10-day series of children's New Year "fire tree" parties. New Year's night swarms of youths and their parents attend an all-night masked ball in the Kremlin Grand Palace. As they left through the Spassky Tower gate, many carried gifts. Many Russians have lived in Moscow all their lives without ever having been inside the Kremlin.

REMOVING DIVISIONS

The first thought that comes to mind in reaction to the announcement that two American Army divisions will be withdrawn from Korea is: Can we afford the risk?

The question is natural because the Communists cannot be trusted to maintain the present truce. They show no signs of eagerness to translate the truce into more lasting peace arrangements. They are notorious in Asia for using a truce as a blind for a new military build-up.

We could not, of course, base our disposition of troops on any fragile assumption that this time things are going to be different. And this decision to cut down our forces in Korea does not imply a sudden surge of faith in the Reds.

For one thing, the South Korean army has been increasing steadily in size and effectiveness. From the time President Eisenhower first began appraising the Korean outlook, he planned mounting emphasis on native forces as they became trained and equipped. This is the first important fruit of that policy.

In the second place, our government and the other United Nations belligerents have indicated that any Communist breach of the truce most likely would mean expansion of the war beyond Korean soil and the use of more devastating offensive weapons.

The clear import of the warning delivered to the Reds on this score is that we would bank more heavily on growing air power in any renewed conflict. And there is at least a hint running through the various official statements that we would consider using atomic weapons in the hope of smashing the enemy decisively.

Thus, not by a foolish taking of a risk but by a careful calculation of the military probabilities, U. S. authorities have concluded they can now re-deploy two divisions.

The swelling ranks of trained and outfitted South Koreans are the reliance against a swift overrunning of free Korean soil. Even assuming a large build-up of Red armies above the truce line, there is unlikely to be a repetition of July, 1950, when North Koreans brushed aside the frail opposition south of the 38th Parallel and swept down until held by hastily assembled American forces.

As a back-up for the now stronger South Koreans, the United States will still have four divisions on the peninsula and others in reserve on nearby Japanese islands. This ought to discourage any ideas of a quick Red thrust to Pusan.

On the other hand, should we have to think again of conducting offensive war in the Korean area, obviously we do not intend to depend so much as formerly on ground troops. We will be thinking in terms of our more advanced, air-delivered weapons.

The move to pull out two divisions makes eminent good sense. It is wholly consistent with our own maximum security and our determination to protect free soil in Asia. At the same time, as the President said, it gives us a chance to show the world our intentions are peaceful and that we want to create a climate of good will.

Do the Communists dare to offer a similar show of good faith?

It's amazing how many luxuries become necessities as soon as we figure we can afford them.

WARMING IMPULSES

One way for a government to increase its revenues is to reduce taxes!

Does that sound like a foolish contradiction in terms? Well, it describes exactly what has been happening in Canada. In that country's 1953-54 budget, both individual income taxes and corporation taxes were cut, by 11 per cent and nine per cent respectively. After six months of operation, this budget had brought the government some $90,000,000 more than was the case last year when the higher tax rates were in effect.

What happened, in the words of Time, is

HERBERT HOOVER AND RED CHINA

Drew Pearson, in a recent column, wrote that someone had told him that Herbert Hoover had said this:

"The United States can't go on forever ignoring Communist China. We simply can't pretend that 400,000,000 people don't exist. I think eventually we'll have to work out some kind of arrangement whereby we can start up some trade with them. Of course, we couldn't send any military items, but there are a lot of other goods we could trade."

As Mr. Pearson quotes an informant, he now has an excuse for calling that person a liar. The statement is so preposterous, in view of the fact that at the moment Herbert Hoover is a member of a committee that is engaged in gathering signatures for a petition to the President against recognizing Red China, that I telephoned Mr. Hoover and he denied the allegation, the statement attributed to him, and its implications. He authorized me so to state.

Mr. Pearson might well telephone to Mr. Hoover apologizing for giving circulation to a fantastic statement provided by a liar, but that is his option. For what the statement seeks to do is to make a hypocrite of Herbert Hoover in the sense that he is circulating a petition in which he does not believe. This is the exact wording of enough of that petition to give the heart of it:

"We hereby express our opposition to the admission of the so-called Chinese People's Republic to the United Nations for the following reasons:

"1. Such admission would destroy the purposes, betray the letter, and violate the spirit of the charter of the United Nations. The charter dedicates the organization to insure peace by promoting freedom and respect of human rights, and subordinates the admission of new states to their ability and willingness, in the judgment of the member nations, to carry out the obligations defined above. The so-called Chinese People's Republic is constitutionally unable to do this since it officially declares itself to be a 'dictatorship' based on 'democratic centralism'. (Articles I and II of the Organic Law of the Central Government of the Chinese People's Republic). This is the basic principle of Communist totalitarianism and excludes freedom of discussion or criticism of government; that is, it excludes freedom and democracy altogether."

Mr. Hoover has never been a hypocrite, not even when he was in the White House where noble men are often debased by high office and imprisoned by their entourage. He might have been re-elected in 1952 had he less of the moral stiffness and more of the hypocrisy in his nature.

He chose to stick by his upbringing and his consciousness that a man can only do as he believes to be right, and so he was defeated for re-election. To say that he is a hypocrite, or to imply it, is an outrageous negation of a long and useful life.

Furthermore, Herbert Hoover has never believed that recognition should be a hurried process. He opposed the recognition of Soviet Russia from 1917 to 1933 and thereafter—even after Franklin D. Roosevelt did that with its disastrous concomitants. Governments that rise by murder and continue by murder, that disturb and absorb their neighbors, that employ slave labor and use slavery as a political weapon do not appeal to Herbert Hoover. Were he President today, he would not recognize Red China and also he would never sit down to a conference with Malenkov. It would be impossible for him to face a man who, for political advantage, had his close associate, Beria, shot down for doing what Malenkov agreed should be done. It is a matter of personal morals.

On August 10, Herbert Hoover will be 80 years old. At such a great age, he continues to serve his people in a difficult public office. He commutes between New York and Washington weekly. He puts in a very long day at his desk. He serves without any compensation as a final, he says, public service to his country.

Such a man ought to command the respect even of those who disagree with his views or who dislike him personally. A story implying that he is a hypocrite in the matter of the rejection of Red China by the United States can only have a malevolent purpose.

EARLY AND LATE RISING AFTER OPERATION

When our hospitals become overcrowded and patients after operation are allowed up within a day or two and discharged from hospital within a week instead of two or three weeks, many of us may have thought that this early rising and short stay in hospital was to secure more hospital beds for waiting patients. This was not the reason although it did secure more beds for patients. The real reason was that it was better for the patient not to rest in bed too long after operation.

As a matter of fact, early rising and getting on the feet in the hospital one day after operation was proposed by a Dr. Rees over fifty years ago. In Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. L. T. Palumbo states that prolonged rest causes many undesirable physiological changes including bones and smooth muscle weakness and loss of tone, loss of calcium (lime) and nitrogen from the body, reduced capacity (heart and lungs), decreased heart output, slowing of the circulation and delay in wound healing. Consequently many complications may occur during this prolonged bed rest after operation.

Some of the beneficial effects of early rising and getting about on the feet soon after operation may be seen in the following. In a group of patients (1,203) kept in bed for six days after operation and 1,700 allowed up on second or third day, there were only 2.3 per cent with complications in the group allowed up early whereas in those who remained in bed six days or more after operation, there were 5.7 per cent with complications. The most frequent complications were those of the lungs, stomach, and intestine.

Another distressing complication was difficulty in passing urine; only 1.3 per cent in the early rising group as compared with 2.6 per cent in the late group. Other cases with more or less serious complications showed that the cases rising early after operation did better than those who rose late.

Finally, the period of hospitalization was reduced; the average stay in hospital was 14.4 days for the early rising (ambulation or walking) and 19.2 days for the late group. From the above figures, Dr. Palumbo states that "from all aspects, early ambulation provides a more rapid rehabilitation of the patient and causes an economic saving to both hospital and patient."

Of course, this means that other things being equal, these are the true facts but there are exceptions where the stay in bed is prolonged for general health or for surgical reasons.

REMOVING DIVISIONS

The first thought that comes to mind in reaction to the announcement that two American Army divisions will be withdrawn from Korea is: Can we afford the risk?

The question is natural because the Communists cannot be trusted to maintain the present truce. They show no signs of eagerness to translate the truce into more lasting peace arrangements. They are notorious in Asia for using a truce as a blind for a new military build-up.

We could not, of course, base our disposition of troops on any fragile assumption that this time things are going to be different. And this decision to cut down our forces in Korea does not imply a sudden surge of faith in the Reds.

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Atomic science as applied to livestock and poultry raising is now ranked as a research tool as important as the invention of the microscope.

Scientists believe that atomic energy can make a vast contribution to the practical study of animal disease. It is not yet at the stage where it gives any promise of being able to wipe out disease.

But in research into animal heredity and genetics, atomic science as developed under President Eisenhower's plan for international use, could make important contributions through the biological laboratories of Europe and the entire world.

One of the more fascinating projects now under way is a study on how milk is formed in the body and other mammals. Research is making progress on what food elements go to make up the lactose in milk.

Some practical uses of atomic energy in poultry raising have been announced. Before the atomic age dawned, scientists thought that chickens could get the sulphur they needed in their systems only through eating plant food that contained it. By the use of the isotope sulphur-35, scientists have found that animals can utilize inorganic sulphur such as is found in commercial flowers-of-sulphur or in sodium sulphite.

Tracer atoms of sulphur, put into ordinary poultry foods, have been located in the feathers and in the amino acids which support life itself.

Tagged Atoms Show How Hens Make Eggs

Another fascinating field of research for the atomic scientist is how hens make eggs. This is a look-see into the very nature of life itself, and its origin. No results can be reported for the average reader as yet, but one interesting detail has been found through the use of tagged atoms.

While it takes a hen 30 days to make a yolk, the shell itself can be made in a day.

At the present stage of man's ignorance, most of the scientific estimates on the effects of atomic radiation on humans are based on experiments carried out on such organisms as the fruitfly. It breeds so rapidly that in a few months generations equivalent to a thousand years of human growth can be observed in the laboratory. Only a few practical results have come out of these insect studies thus far.

Dr. Paul Dahm of the University of Iowa, under a grant from both Atomic Energy Commission and Department of Defense, has undertaken an insect study in the hope of finding clues to development of better insecticides.

Dahm began by putting radioactive carbon 14 into a DDT mix and feeding it to cockroaches, to see what it did and where it went. He found traces of his tagged atom in every part of the cockroach body. The experiments are now being tried on flies.

Development of Insect-Killing Plants Is Studied

Another approach to the problem is being made through the study of systemic insecticides. The idea here is to introduce some element into a plant which will kill off the insect pests that feed upon it. Randolph T. Wedding of the University of California Citrus Experiment Station has However, one baby in every 50,000 in the United States is born with it, although we have no hereditary nobility. As yet, doctors have found no way of curing this tragic disease, but they are constantly learning better ways of preventing its worst consequences.

The strange feature of hemophilia is that only women can pass it on, although they are never affected with it. Only a fifth of the children born with hemophilia ever grow up. A cut that would pass almost unnoticed in a normal child may be fatal to one of them. Bleeding may be either internal or external and, worse, it can start spontaneously without being caused by any known injury. The hemophiliac child must have no toys with sharp edges, no clothing with pressure from buttons, buckles, or tight waistbands. Everything about him must be padded. He can't join in rough and tumble play with other youngsters.

Hemophiliacs often grow up to be exceptionally brilliant men, perhaps because they must concentrate on intellectual pursuits. They usually have fewer hemorrhages as they grow older, because they learn to live with their condition.

The usual treatment for hemorrhage in hemophilia is transfusion with whole blood. Another is the injection of plasma, together with some of the blood's protein components. Treatment with clotting elements of blood is often valuable. Perhaps the most important element of treatment is teaching the hemophiliac to adjust to his handicap.

With good management, many children with hemophilia are being kept alive today and are even able to attend school and take part in normal childhood activities. In time, medical research may find a way to cure hemophiliacs, whether they are princes or paupers.

Investor Forumby
Harry C. France*WHAT PRICE VALUE?

Rich in cash and in marketable assets, Briggs Manufacturing Company is making plans to distribute nearly $63 million to its stockholders.

It is divesting itself of its automobile-body business, having sold that to the Chrysler Corporation. In the future, Briggs will devote its attention to the plumbing-ware division.

Frequently readers of this column ask about the significance of "book value." This Briggs-Chrysler matter is a good illustration.

In recent weeks (before the consummation of this deal) Briggs stock had been selling at about $28 a share. During the five-year period, 1948-52, Briggs had paid a total of $15.50 per share in cash dividends—an average of $3.10 a year.

Yet the shares sold for $28 each. The indicated yield was very large. Speculators and investors alike neglected them. As is often the case, public appraisal of Briggs common stock was far too conservative.

The Chrysler management saw values in Briggs that the public didn't. As a result, sometime during 1954, Briggs stockholders are going to get about $33 in cash. At the same time they will still be stockholders in the Briggs plumbing-ware division.

It is the old, old story of the price failing to reflect book value. Briggs is to retain about $18 million to run its plumbing-ware division. Even after paying about $33 a share to its stockholders, they will still have substantial equity in the business.

The New York Stock Exchange lists scores of leading stocks selling (like Briggs was) way under book value. The textile stock I wrote about in this column last September, selling at $12 a share with a book value of $44, has gone to $17. It may be higher when this article appears.

There is risk in everything. But when a good stock sells for 30, 40, or 50 per cent of its book value, it is time for bargain hunters to get their pencils out and their thinking caps on. Chrysler bought automobile-body plants, land, machinery and equipment from Briggs. And the Chrysler executives put a higher price value on these assets than the public did.

It was even thus. Try to sell a $50 bill to a stranger at a discount and he will become suspicious. Write a hundred letters to prospective investors about values selling at low prices and most of them will be thrown into waste-paper baskets.

Nevertheless, the truth still stands. Take United States Steel common, for instance. It is put out by the greatest industrial corporation in the world. Year by year it charges off depreciation and depletion sums that run into the millions.

Yet today that equity—available at $39 a share on the New York Stock Exchange—has a book value of $72 a share. Total reserves set aside for amortization, depletion and depreciation are over $2 billion. Yet that $72 book value is aside from these reserves.

Now, of course, nobody is going to step in and buy out U. S. Steel. However, were this to be done, I would wager that each common share would receive around $72. That would be quite a mark-up from $39. Doubtless many of the depletion and depreciation reserves are too high. And if this were to be taken into account, the book value of U. S. Steel common would be higher.

Readers who write me about underpriced real estate might well meditate on U. S. Steel and Briggs. Steel is real estate money for 55 cents on the dollar. It is instantly marketable, high-grade collateral and dividend-paying. Surely, it carries risk. And its investment rating isn't too high.

I have used it as illustrative material. It is suggestive of the bargains available to investors and speculators who want to buy values that are underpriced. If more brokers would do what I have indicated in this article, thousands of new stockholders would be made in 1954.

THE FORM
(Q) "Who should buy stock like Briggs and U. S. Steel?"

(A) Those investors and speculators who can afford to carry the risks inherent in cyclical equities. The steel business is subject to wide fluctuations and as a result, earnings and dividends run the gamut of uncertainty from decade to decade.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment question, write in care of this newspaper.

Frank E. Burr of 150 Highland avenue, Kingston, observed his 40th year with the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. on New Year's Day. Mr. Burr is cable splicer with the utility company.

He joined Central Hudson as a groundman January 1, 1914, and joined the line forces in 1918.

Burr recalls the early days of the utility company when he worked a nine-hour day, six days a week. In contrast to the company's modern chrome yellow trucks in use today, Burr remembers well the horse-drawn wagons the utility company used to maintain its electric system. He also recalls the advent of mechanized transportation and the use of an early three-cylinder limousine truck. They had to stop the vehicle at intervals so that the engine could cool off, Burr commented.

Burr was honored today in a ceremony at Central Hudson's general offices in Poughkeepsie. Ernest R. Acker, president of the Central Hudson System, presented him with a 40-year service emblem and congratulated him on his long period of active service.

'Ullace Told Me To'

By FRANK TRIPP

Well, it's all set. Everything is decided except the date; which is likely to rule out the grandparents, unless we attend in wheel chairs. You see, the happy couple have yet to enter their teens.

It is no surprise to the family. The courtship has been of conspicuous and earnest duration. It started when Turk was four and Alice was two. Guess I told you about it.

It was the time that the unpredictable rascal found a croquet mallet alongside a neighbor's garage. With the weapon he knocked out 36 panes of glass, and could have done much better had he been taller or had a steeper handle longer.

We knew right away that some day he'd make a resourceful, obedient husband, for when asked why he did it, he said, "Ullace told me to." To which the loyal, but as yet inarticulate Alice could merely nod her head. She stood by Turk, and has ever since, through depreciation after depreciation.

THOUGH TURK hasn't had much time to look around, he's decided to reform and settle down. No male of any age ever had sounder reason for his choice. Alice has been his willing alibi, through thick and thin, mostly pretty thin.

We presume that the decision was hastened by the recent wedding of his grownup cousin, Turk worried through the three months of preparation for the 20-minute extravaganza; as I have, through four of them.

Except that he let two months elapse for reversion to normal. I'd suspect that he was a mite off his noodle when he took the step.

IT MIGHT BE that the south-paw overheard me say that I was going to give a ladder to all the rest of our offspring—and if they didn't elope, I'd shoot 'em.

Turk is the sort who would risk being shot to get a ladder. He still remembers being thwarted by the high-up garage windows.

Almost everybody can remember a childhood romance and their plans for the rose-trellised cottage. Some come to realization of those very plans. Me and my gal planned nearly as early as have Turk and Alice. So, who knows?

BUT I WARN Master Turk, as one of experience, that there's a drawback he has yet to discover: a disadvantage, even to a white liar, when one's whole life is as well known to his mate as to himself. It's pretty hard to get away with anything.

On numerous attempts to dream heroic adventure into the past, Fanny has let me talk myself into a nice little hole, which she baited with demonic silence. Then she'd spring that trap. That's when you wish you had first met the girl on Tuesday and married her the following Saturday.

SO TURK, you see that your grandpappy (and grandmammy too, I'll venture) have encountered occasions when it would have been handier if they hadn't known quite so much about each other.

I wouldn't want to bust up the match, Turk, but if you ever plan to wax nostalgic, like I have, you'll grind out the hokum with facility if you haven't a kindergarten sweetheart sitting around to say: "You great big liar; that never happened."

Announcing for '54*NEW FORD TRUCKS with TRIPLE ECONOMY!

Ford takes the lead in ALL 3 vital factors that make for lower-cost trucking!

1. Now, only in Ford Trucks—gas-saving, Low-Friction, high-compression, overhead-valve, deep-block engines in all truck models! 115- to 170-h.p.!

It's another great Ford FIRST! Ford now offers the only full line of ultra-modern Low-Friction truck engines! Short-stroke design cuts power-wasting friction up to 33%. More of the developed power is delivered to move your load—gas goes farther!

All Ford engines have deep-skirt, more rigid engine blocks—for better main bearing support and smoother performance. All five engines have Ford-designed overhead rotating valves for longer valve life. Ford gives you new higher compression with regular gas!

Over a billion miles of actual service have proved what these ultra-modern Ford Truck engines can deliver in performance and economy. Now, they're standard in all of Ford's more than 220 truck models. Yours, in the one right truck for your job!

NOW! 5 Ford engines offer the mightiest concentration of power per cubic inch ever in any truck line! V-8 and SIX!

For the power they develop, the engines in the 1954 Ford Truck line have less cubic inch displacement than engines in other-make lines. For example, Ford's 239 cu. in. Power King V-8 develops its 130 h.p. on as much as 43 cu. in. less displacement. Smaller-displacement engines normally need less gas! That's one big reason why Ford concentrated power offers greater economy!

2. New Driverized Cabs, Master-Guide Power Steering, Power Brakes, Fordomatic Drive for faster control!

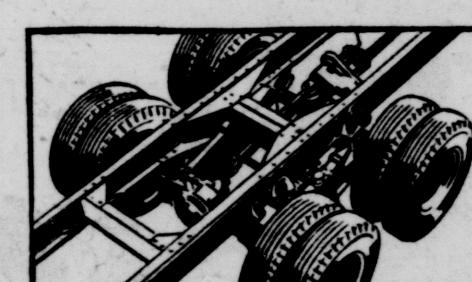

New Ford Truck Driverized Cabs cut driving fatigue! Better working facilities include new woven plastic seat upholstery—lasts longer, "breathes" like cloth for year-around comfort. New Master-Guide Power Steering standard on T-800, optional on most other BIG JOBS cuts steering effort as much as 75%! And every driver's a better driver with these Ford options (extra cost): New Power Brakes for Pickups and other 1/2-tonners! Fordomatic Drive for all light-duty Series!

3. New greater capacity! New Factory-Built "6-wheelers," gross up to 48% more!

Ford's expanded line now includes brand-new Ford Tandem-Axle BIG JOBS, up to 40,000 lbs. G.V.W., to haul big loads up to the legal limit in all 48 States! Priced with the lowest, they have a completely Ford-designed chassis with

WHAT PRICE VALUE?

Rich in cash and in marketable assets, Briggs Manufacturing Company is making plans to distribute nearly $63 million to its stockholders.

It is divesting itself of its automobile-body business, having sold that to the Chrysler Corporation. In the future, Briggs will devote its attention to the plumbing-ware division.

Frequently readers of this column ask about the significance of "book value." This Briggs-Chrysler matter is a good illustration.

In recent weeks (before the consummation of this deal) Briggs stock had been selling at about $28 a share. During the five-year period, 1948-52, Briggs had paid a total of $15.50 per share in cash dividends—an average of $3.10 a year.

Yet the shares sold for $28 each. The indicated yield was very large. Speculators and investors alike neglected them. As is often the case, public appraisal of Briggs common stock was far too conservative.

The Chrysler management saw values in Briggs that the public didn't. As a result, sometime during 1954, Briggs' stockholders are going to get about $33 in cash. At the same time they will still be stockholders in the Briggs plumbing-ware division.

It is the old, old story of the price failing properly to reflect book value. Briggs is to retain about $18 million to run its plumbing-ware division. Even after paying about $33 a share to its stockholders, they will still have substantial equity in the business.

The New York Stock Exchange lists scores of leading stocks selling like Briggs was "way under book value." The textile stock I wrote about in this column last September, selling at $12 a share with a book value of $44, has gone to $17. It may be higher when that article appears.

There is risk in everything, but when a good stock sells for 30, 40, or 50 per cent of its book value, it is time for bargain hunters to get their pencils out and their thinking caps on. Chrysler bought automobile-body plants, land, machinery and equipment from Briggs. And the Chrysler executives put a higher price value on these assets than the public did.

It was even thus. Try to sell a $5.00 bill to a stranger at a discount and he will immediately become suspicious. Write a hundred letters to prospective investors about values selling at low prices and most of them will be thrown into waste-paper baskets.

Nevertheless, the truth still stands. Take United States Steel, for instance. It is put out by the greatest industrial corporation in the world. Year by year it charges off depreciation and depletion sums that run into the millions.

Yet today that equity—available at $39 a share on the New York Stock Exchange—has a book value of $72 a share. Total reserves set aside for amortization, depletion and depreciation are over $2 billion. Yet that $72 book value is aside from these reserves.

Now, of course, nobody is going to step in and buy out U. S. Steel. However, were this to be done, I would wager that each common share would receive around $72. That would be quite a mark-up from $39. Doubtless many of the depletion and depreciation reserves are too high. And if this were to be taken into account, the book value of U. S. Steel common would be higher.

Readers who write me about underpriced real estate might well meditate on U. S. Steel and Briggs. Steel is real estate selling for 5 cents on the dollar. It

Town Tax Rate Is Reduced This Year

Saugerties, Jan. 4 — An announcement from the office of Supervisor Peter Williams disclosed that the Town of Saugerties tax rate has been reduced by approximately 57 cents. The exact figure is .568. The 1954 tax rate was announced as $37,168 against last year's rate which was $37,736, a net decrease of $.568.

The total amount to be raised in taxes in the town is $29,748.30 none of which will be needed for the general fund according to Supervisor Williams.

Items financed include $62,500 in highway tax; $4,162 in welfare fund; $2,800 in health fund; and $24,535 in special district taxes which are not levied on all the township.

The division of the current rate is $17,565 for the general tax and $19,603 for highway use, as compared with last year's rate of $18,072 for the general tax and $19,664 for highways, a total of $37,736.

The village rate will be slightly higher than last year. The new rate for 1954 for village residents will be $10,035. Last year's rate was $9,968. Supervisor Williams stated that the slight increase is due to the increase in highway expenditures.

By-Laws Voting Is Set Tonight For Fire Group

West Camp, Jan. 4 — The by-laws committee of the newly-formed Malden-West Camp Fire Company held a meeting Wednesday night at the West Camp Parish Hall for the purpose of drafting by-laws to govern new organization.

The committee, which includes Charles Graf, Valmore Carpenter, Charles Daley of West Camp and Edward Kolls, Jerry Smith, and Albert Cawein of Malden, offered some constructive suggestions regarding the slate of officers which will be nominated and elected at the next meeting. They will propose that the following offices will be set up to handle the administration of the fire company: a president, vice-president, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, treasurer, three trustees, representative, alternate, sergeant-at-arms, historian, chief, assistant chief, two captains, two lieutenants, and six drivers.

The plans of the organization call for two separate firehouses, one in Malden and one in West Camp. One chief and assistant chief will be in charge of the combined equipment in both houses. However, each house will the time that you discard it, one of them may be able to pick up the discard pile later on and make effective use of your discard.

It is especially important to discard cautiously when the opponents have warned you by melding a partial sequence. It is in this situation, and only in this situation, that your discard may be picked up and added directly to the sequence.

These cards are important because no seven-card sequence can be made that doesn't include a ten, nine, and an eight. A samba may run up from the eight to the ace, or down from the ten to the four, or it may start lower than the ace and run down to a card higher than the four; but in any case it must include a ten, nine, and eight.

If you are careful, you will avoid discarding any key card that your opponent may use in a sequence, with special emphasis on avoiding the discard of a ten, nine, or eight. Even if neither opponent wants such a card at queen-jack-ten of clubs. A few plays later I held the king of clubs in my hand, and the player at my right discarded the ace of clubs. Was it legal for me to take the discard pile, adding the king and ace of clubs to my sequence?

A—No. The discarded ace of clubs does not fit immediately on the previously melded queen-jack-ten.

Q—My initial meld included the queen-jack-ten-nine of clubs. Several rounds later the king of clubs was discarded. Could I take it and add the ace and eight to complete a samba?

A—Yes. The king fits immediately to the previous meld, and you may always add to your meld.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Jacoby on Canasta*Keep Track of Your SequencesBy OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Sequences are so important in the game of canasta that doesn't include a offensive and the defensive play must constantly be influenced by the possibility of making a complete samba. The easiest way to keep the sequences in mind is to keep track of the tens, nines and eights.

These cards are important because no seven-card sequence can be made that doesn't include a ten, a nine, and an eight. A samba may run up from the eight to the ace, or down from the ten to the four, or it may start lower than the ace and run down to a card higher than the four; but in any case it must include a ten, nine and eight.

If you are careful, you will avoid discarding any key card that your opponent may use in a sequence, with special emphasis on avoiding the discard of a ten, nine, or eight. Even if neither opponent wants such a card at the time that you discard it, one of them may be able to pick up the discard pile later on and make effective use of your discard.

It is especially important to discard cautiously when the opponents have warned you by melding a partial sequence. It is in this situation, and only in this situation, that your discard may be picked up and added directly to the sequence.

Since the rule governing this play is often misunderstood, let me go into it more thoroughly. The opponent at your left may pick up your discard (and, with it, the whole discard pile) and add that discard to a sequence if two things are true:

1. His sequence of three or more cards must be on the table before that turn begins. In other words, his sequence must have been melded at a previous turn.

2. The discard must fit immediately (without any intervening card) to his previously melded sequence.

Q—My initial meld included

the previously melded queen-jack-

queen-jack-ten of clubs. A few plays later I held the king of clubs in my hand, and the player at my right discarded the ace of clubs. Was it legal for me to take the discard pile, adding the king and ace of clubs to my sequence?

A—No. The discarded ace of clubs does not fit immediately on the previously melded queen-jack-

ten.

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor not only relinquished her title of best-dressed woman in the world today—she almost slipped off the list.

The 1953 champion is Mrs. William Paley of New York, wife of the head of Columbia Broadcasting System.

For several years it has been a see-saw battle between the two famous fashion leaders, with Mrs. Paley nosing out the Duchess for first place in 1948 and 1949.

Duchess Ties With Singer

This time, however, the wife of the former king of England barely made the list, tying for 10th place with Mary Martin, Broadway star currently co-starring with Charles Boyer in the comedy, "Kind Sir." Actually, the list has 12 names, since there also was a tie for 9th place.

The international poll, which has been conducted by the New York Dress Institute since 1940, tallied votes from more than 1,000 fashion authorities over the world in arriving at the new list.

MR. AND MRS. CARLTON DALE ALLEN

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Carlton Allen, Miss Regina Robinson

Miss Regina Barbara Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Robinson of Elm street, Saugerties, was united in marriage to Carlton Dale Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Allen of Saranac, in a double ring ceremony at the Saugerties Methodist Church Sunday, Dec. 27 at 5 p. m. The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Werner, pastor of the Saugerties Methodist Church.

Edward Terpening of Malden was soloist rendered. Because Oh Perfect Love, and The Lord's Prayer, Miss Elizabeth Rigsbee of West Chazy, served as accompanist on the organ and also played the traditional wedding refrains.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a satin gown with long flowing train and accented with scalloped net neckline. The long sleeves were of imported lace with pointed fingertip. The gown consisted of lace over satin from neckline to waist. The veil consisted of fingertip French illusion net with wide lace trim and a flowing lace skull cap edged in satin and seed pearls. She carried a prayer book which has been handed down from her great grandmother. The flowers on the prayer book were white cyclamen blossoms with varied holly and white ribbon.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Frederick Goff, served as matron of honor. She wore a shrimp color net over satin full length gown with strapless top and matching stole and headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pink camellias with varied holly and white ribbon.

The bridegroom's brother, Ross Allen, also of Saranac, was the best man. Ushers included Frederick Goff, brother-in-law of the bride and Robert Allen brother of the bridegroom.

A reception for 75 guests was held in the parlors of the church. For the wedding journey to Niagara Falls the bride wore a nutmeg brown suit with brown accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and New York State Teachers College in Albany. She is now a member of the faculty of Saranac Central School. The bridegroom, a graduate of Morrisville High School served three years in the Officer's Reserve Corps. He is presently employed by the Diamond Match Co., Plattsburgh.

When they return from the wedding journey they will make their home in Saranac.

Of Former Resident

Mrs. Virginia Wootten Downing announces the engagement of her daughter, Gloria E. Mitchell, to Robert J. Perry of Hempstead, L. I.

Miss Mitchell, an employee of the New York State Special Investigations Bureau in New York, formerly resided in this city and is the daughter of the late Oscar J. Mitchell and granddaughter of Mrs. Minnie V. Walker of 43 South Pine street.

Dress for Yourself

Mme. Arpels, commenting on her selection, had this advice for women who wish to dress well, even on a limited income:

"Dress for yourself, not for fashion. Keep everything simple, and choose your colors carefully. Don't wear too much jewelry, too many accessories, too much trimming. Remember that a dress is effective only if it emphasizes your own personality—not if it overpowers it."

Mme. Arpels feels that shorter dresses will be flattering to American women, because "they have such beautiful legs."

PLANS SHOWER

A reader tells me: "I am going to give a shower for the daughter of a friend of mine. Not knowing the bride's friends, I asked her mother for a list of the names of those whom she thought would like to come to a shower for Mary. Included in this list was the name of one of the bride's aunts, I have not spoken to this person for some time, and the bride's mother knows this. Wasn't it cheeky of her to expect me to invite her to my house, knowing the circumstances, and can I take it upon myself to cross her name from the list?"

I think the brides' mother was trying to be a peacemaker, and put her name on the list in the hope that a truce might occur. At any rate, if you are serious about not inviting her to your house, you certainly can cross her name from the list.

Earrings for Schoolgirls

Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like to have your opinion of young girls aged 13 and 14, wearing earrings to school. My daughter is 13 and is very much put out with me because I refuse to let her wear them. She says that the other girls in her class wear them and she can't see why I won't let her do the same. I told her that I would agree to this if you said it was proper.

Answer: Long dangling earrings, or overlarge jeweled ones, would be very bad, but small button ones would be unobjectionable.

Marriage Without Consent of Family

Dear Mrs. Post: Due to religious differences, my fiance and I will have a very quiet wedding. Since my parents do not approve of my marriage, it will be impossible to have a reception at home. Would it be proper to have a small reception at my fiance's apartment after the ceremony for a few of our most intimate friends?

Answer: Under the circumstances, I see no objection to this plan.

Have you put off writing that letter because you did not know how to express your thoughts on paper? You will find booklet No. 502, "Etiquette of Writing," helpful. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Mrs. William Paley Named Best-Dressed Woman for 1953

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor not only relinquished her title of best-dressed woman in the world today—she almost slipped off the list.

The 1953 champion is Mrs. William Paley of New York, wife of the head of Columbia Broadcasting System.

For several years it has been a see-saw battle between the two famous fashion leaders, with Mrs. Paley nosing out the Duchess for first place in 1948 and 1949.

Duchess Ties With Singer

This time, however, the wife of the former king of England barely made the list, tying for 10th place with Mary Martin, Broadway star currently co-starring with Charles Boyer in the comedy, "Kind Sir." Actually, the list has 12 names, since there was also a tie for 9th place.

The international poll, which has been conducted by the New York Dress Institute since 1940, tallied votes from more than 1,000 fashion authorities over the world in arriving at the new list.

Mrs. Paley is a daughter of the late Harvey Cushing, famed Boston brain surgeon, and sister of two other famous beauties, Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. John Whitney. She is the former wife of Stanley G. Mortimer Jr. of Tuxedo, and was a New York fashion editor before her marriage to Paley in 1947.

Wardrobe Is Simple

Compared with many others on the "best-dressed" list, Mrs. Paley's wardrobe usually is not lavish, but is notable for its simplicity and perfect taste.

Others on the current list:

2. Mrs. Winston Guest, of New York and Palm Beach.

3. Mrs. Byron Foy, of New York, daughter of the founder of the Chrysler Motor Co., and wife of one of its chief executives.

4. Mme. Henri Bonnet, wife of the French ambassador to the United States.

5. Mrs. William Randolph Hearst Jr., wife of the publisher of the New York Journal-American.

6. Oveta Culp Hobby, of Houston and Washington, only woman member of the Eisenhower cabinet.

7. Mme. Arpels, of Paris and New York, whose husband is in the jewel firm of Van Cleef and Arpels.

8. Princess Margaret Rose of Great Britain.

9. A tie between Mrs. Henry Ford II, of Detroit, and Mrs. Fred G. Vanderbilt, of New York.

10. The Duchess of Windsor and Mary Martin.

Dress for Yourself

Mme. Arpels, commenting on her selection, had this advice for women who wish to dress well, even on a limited income:

"Dress for yourself, not for fashion. Keep everything simple, and choose your colors carefully. Don't wear too much jewelry, too many accessories, too much trimming. Remember that a dress is effective only if it emphasizes your own personality—not if it overpowers it."

Mme. Arpels feels that shorter dresses will be flattering to American women, because "they have such beautiful legs."

Pamphlet Issued
By State Teachers
On Public Schools

A third pamphlet designed to acquaint citizens of the community with their schools and to stimulate public interest in education is being distributed throughout the Kingston area. It was announced today by the Kingston Teachers Association.

Title of the pamphlet is "Wanted—Able Young People by America's Greatest Enterprise—Apply New York State Public Schools."

The pamphlet is one of a series prepared by the New York State Teachers Association. The purpose of the series is to tell parents and citizens the story of school objectives and activities and how citizens can help through understanding and support.

Desperate Need Exists

This third pamphlet presents a concise picture of the desperate need for qualified teachers within the nation's public schools at the present time, a need resulting from the sharp rise in the nation's birth rate, greatest in the country's history, during the years following World War 2. The effects of this extremely high birth rate is now taking its toll in our public schools. Enrollment in New York state schools alone increased 100,000 over that of the previous year and is still going up. New teacher material to meet this demand is considerably below normal level and is steadily diminishing.

To alleviate this critical situation stop-gap action has necessarily had to be taken. Stop-gap action means that 50 per cent of new teachers are former teachers who have returned to the classroom. At least 25 per cent of these teachers could not meet today's minimum standards but have had to be employed because of serious need. Many others have received certificates on the basis of just six weeks of teacher training. Hundreds have been forced by the growing lack of teachers to attempt to teach subjects or grades other than those for which they had been prepared.

Regarded as Distasteful

Surveys also show that present high school students consider teaching a difficult, distasteful job. They object to archaic conditions of employment and realize that they can earn as much or more in private industry without investing in college preparation.

If our sons and daughters are not interested in teaching, what will we do about it? Will we continue to discourage them from entering the teaching profession or take action to make teaching more attractive? Thus, the pamphlet questions all thinking citizens searchingly. To assure a complete education for every child, it points out, a minimum of 8,000 qualified teachers is needed for this year and every other year in the future. The very future of our children depends upon the action taken by alert parents and citizens in influencing promising young people to enter the field of teaching.

In summary, the pamphlet in 63-80%* of cases in doctors' tests

You may be suffering needlessly from "hot flashes" and erratic, restless feelings of "change of life." Doctors' tests, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Tablets brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering in 63% and 80% (respectively) of cases. Complete or striking relief!

Try modern-action Pinkham Tablets. Both Pinkham's Compound and Tablets are modern in action. But, thousands of women are choosing new, more effective tablets with added iron. They're easy to carry, take, and give truly wonderful relief. Get a bottle today. Get away from those distressing, nervous-out-of-sorts" feelings of "change of life"! Splendid, too, for functional pain of monthly menstrual periods!

It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve distresses of those awful "heatwaves".

Civic Organizations Give Christmas Party For Hospital Patients

About 50 patients of the Ulster County TB Hospital enjoyed their annual Christmas party

Tuesday evening. Each year the Patients' Service Committee sponsor a holiday party at the Tuberculosis Hospital. Various civic organizations and individuals of the TB and Health Association provide the gifts, entertainment and refreshments.

Mrs. Alice Scardefield headed the committee on arrangements and Mrs. Jacob Meyer acted as Master of Ceremonies. Entertainment and music was furnished for the patients by Mrs. Harold Shorr, Mrs. Morton Zukor, Dixie Brandt, Miss Betty Gill, Mrs. Addison Freer and Peter Matthews.

Santa Claus, Charles Trice, from the Knights of Columbus, distributed gifts to each patient from the Christmas tree.

As in the past two years the women of the B'nai B'rith Auxiliary furnished and arranged the refreshments. A beautiful show-piece made of candy by Mrs. Sam Kenik, which adorned the tea-table, is now on display in the window of Leo's John Street Fruit Market. Each patient was presented with an individual African violet plant donated by Mrs. Herbert Bloom.

During the evening Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical director at the hospital, thanked the Patients' Service Committee, the various organizations and individuals who made it possible for the patients to have such a delightful affair during the holidays. Contributing to the patients' Christmas party were: Junior League, Veterans Foreign Wars Ladies' Auxiliary, B'nai B'rith, Clinton Chapter 445, Ulster County Women's Republican Club, Junior Married Women's Club, YWCA, Ulster County Women's Democratic Club, A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company, the Smart Shop, Mt. Horeb Chapter, Mrs. Adelaide M. Brigham, American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Anne Murphy, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Rapids Sweep Toros

A substitute for Larry Weischaup, the veteran Lew Hymes fished smoothly into the high scoring Jones machine with 657 on games of 213, 236 and 188. Harold Broskie fired 200-237-614 and Dick Howard cracked 214-211-221 for 646. Charlie Manfrro dogged it with 555.

Schrver Sweep Three

Schrver Lumber, unreported and unheard from last week, bobbed up with a sparkling three-game sweep over the tough Liberty Goody's on the mountain drives.

With captain George Shufeld posting 606, the Lumberjacks rolled 2838 in the sweep to capture tight battles in the first and third sets. Shufeld rolled games of 211, 225 and 170. Runnerup Larry Petersen shot 199-191-203-593. Whitey Crispell 206-553, George Robinson 202-553 and Fred Rice 551. Les Quiggle led Liberty with 228-218-182-621.

The Schrver sweep and Elstons' two-game loss at Ellenville effected a tie between the two teams for fifth place with 30 wins and 21 losses.

Angie Ferraro shot 539 and Jackie Ferraro fired 523 to lead the Sportsmen in a low scoring duel in which they dropped the last two games 870-867. Dick Charch paced Ellenville with 550.

Elstons Sweep Toros

Rap's Express finished with a 1031 slam and totalled 2855 for a three-game win over the Liberty Toros. Buster Ferraro led with 191-208-214-613. Frank Leslie posted 208-217-559. Mickey Kahns 225-579. Ken Joseph 549 and Eddie Heins 519. H. Avery was Liberty's best with 547.

The pennant race remained unchanged as all the leaders scored sweeps. Poughkeepsie Cabs rolled 3002 to take three from Middletown Gulf as Jake Charter rolled 630 and Charlie Cruzan hit 620.

Wally Gerken fired 645 and Nick Leoce had 628 as Newburgh Tooeys dumped Poughkeepsie Fog-Nash three in a row. Emil Garberino led the F-Ns with 621.

Hammerin' Hank Klemmer blasted 647 and Hank Kuykendall had 603 as Ellenville Shahanahans breezed past the Arlington Lanes. Frank Greco, No. 2 man in the individual ratings, slumped to 553.

Colleges Expected To Keep 1-Platoon And TV Setup

Cincinnati, Jan. 4 (AP) — No major changes for 1954 football, in either the television setup or the substitution rules, were in prospect today as the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. launched its six-day 48th annual convention.

The parent body takes no definite action on anything until Friday, but early indications were that, in the absence of any heated objections, the group would cling to the restricted television setup and the one-platoon style of play.

Some 1,300 of the nation's outstanding athletic administrators and coaches were slated to attend the sessions of the NCAA and five affiliated groups. Not too many were on hand today for executive committee meetings.

The heavy action starts tomorrow when the American Football Coaches Assn.'s rules committee, under Chairman Lou Little of Columbia, begins shaping up recommendations to be submitted to the NCAA rules committee at Saratoga.

Kramer, who thinks about as fast as he used to serve when he was the world's leading amateur, is varying the script on his tour this year. Tonight, for instance, Gonzales will play Segura for the $4,000 jackpot of the two-day stand. Budge and Sedgman will play for the consolation prize of $1,500.

In yesterday's opening round Gonzales, making a comeback at the tender age of 25, upset Sedgman 3-6, 11-0, 13-11 and Segura dropped down the ladder, the undisputed ruler of the game in the middle thirties, 6-4, 6-2.

"By running the show like a tournament every night, we'll give the boys more incentive," said Kramer. "Last year everyone collected his guarantee whether he won or lost. Now the winner each night will collect the major share of the purse."

Kramer is confining his own action to doubles to this year.

The man they always have to beat for individual average honours in the Hudson Valley Bowl- ing League is on the prowl again.

Johnny Ferraro, the perennial leader or runnerup, enlivened a brilliant duel between Jones Dairy and Walden Lewis with a rousing 725 blast Saturday night at the Bowldrome. He threw nine in a row in the third game before he was balked by a stubborn 9-pin on a light hit.

The Ace pored strikes for games of 192-257 and 276 to gain ground on all the average contenders. The big blast helped the Dairymen sweep three from the Lewises with a 319 series. The locals cracked team totals of 1028, 1103 and 1066.

Walden grossed 3026 and had the unenviable distinction of dropping three games, despite the fact of its members rolled better than 690.

Jim Mason, a 177-average performer in the last Hudson Valley League ratings, toppled 698 with 216-247-235 and veteran Russ Brophy slammed 209-240-247 for 696. But the others didn't give them much help causing them to lose with scores of 1057 and 1043.

Hynes Shoots 657

A substitute for Larry Weis- haupt, the veteran Lew Hynes fired smoothly into the high scor- ing Jones machine with 657 on games of 213, 256 and 188. Harold Broskie fired 200-237-214 and Dick Howard cracked 214-211-221 for 646. Charlie Manfre dogged it with 555.

Schrivener Sweep Three

Schrivener Lumber, unheralded and unheard from last week, bobbed up with a sparkling three-game sweep over the tough Liberty Goody's on the mountain drives.

With captain George Shufeldt posting 606, the Lumberjacks rolled 2858 in the sweep to cop tight battles in the first and third sets. Shufeldt rolled games of 211, 225 and 170. Runnerup Larry Paterson shot 199-191-203-593, Whitey Crispell 206-553, George Robinson 202-555 and Fred Rice 551. Les Quiggle led Liberty with 228-211-182-624.

The Schrivener sweep and Els- tons two-game loss at Ellenville effected a tie between the two teams for fifth place with 30 wins and 21 losses.

Angie Ferraro shot 539 and Jackie Ferraro fired 523 to lead the Sportsmen in a low scoring duel in which they dropped the last two games 870-867. Ed Church paced Ellenville with 550.

Rapps Sweep Tors

Rapp's Express finished with a 1031 slam and totalled 2855 for a three-game win over the Liberty Tors. Buster Ferraro led with 191-214-613. Frank Leskie posted 208-217-395. Mickey Kahrs 225-579. Ken Joseph 549 and Ed- die Heine 519. H. Avery was Liberty's best with 547.

The pennant race remained unchanged as all the leaders scored sweeps. Poughkeepsie Cabs rolled 3002 to take three from Middle- town Gulf as Jake Charter rolled 630 and Charlie Cruzan hit 620.

Geoffron, Hank Kommerer blasted 647 and Hank Kukendahl had 603 as Ellenville Shanahan breezed past the Arlington Lanes. Frank Greco, No. 2 man in the individual ratings, slumped to 553.

The Wariest Old Gobbler
Refuses to appear after answering a perfect call.
A trick to try then is a vigorous slapping of your trouser.
With your hat, it imitates the sound of two toms fighting and may bring your reluctant tom on the run.
Another trick works sometimes; it's the scratching of leaves with your fingers, imitating a bird scratching for food. It requires no talent (you can't make a sour note with it) to warn a nearby bird.
Don't "call" when bird is near!

Final Town Board

Meeting of '53 Held

Woodstock, Jan. 2.—The final town board meeting for the year 1953 was held Thursday night at Assemblyman Kenneth Wilson, retiring town supervisor, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gillmor entertained at a New Year's Day party at their home in Wittenberg Friday afternoon.

John Boswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boswell, entertained a group of friends at his home Friday night.

Mrs. Towa Boggs entertained at a New Year's Eve party at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Belmont Towbin spent the holidays at their home in Zena with house guests from Baltimore.

Miss Bobbie Miles and Mrs. Toni Drake entertained at a party at their home on New Year's Eve.

Quintero Praised

Woodstock, Jan. 2.—The new Judith Anderson play, In the Summer House, which opened Tuesday at the Playhouse, in New York, has been reviewed enthusiastically by Walter F. Kerr in The New York Herald Tribune.

Kerr gives special mention to Jose Quintero, director of the play, who was formerly associated with the Loft Players at the Maverick Theatre during the summer of 1950.

"Over and over again," Kerr wrote, "director Jose Quintero has linked together the evening's more incisive flashes with the gentler moods, lovingly sustained. A beach party with bubbles being idly blown toward the water, a spaghetti picnic, a game of cards under a night light—all are genuine glimpses of passing life, perfectly evocative."

Village Notes

Woodstock, Jan. 2—Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. King are the parents of a boy, weighing almost eight pounds, born Wednesday morning at Kingston Hospital. The boy has been named Kyle King. He has two older sisters, Margo, 10 and Karen, 15.

Dr. and Mrs. Hans J. Cohn entertained Sunday night at a musical in honor of their guest Miss Ilse Sasse. Dr. and Mrs. Cohn also entertained their usual guests at their annual New Year's Eve party.

David d'Albis and Louis Berryman were among four young people, the other two from West Shokan, who went with Joseph Vredenburg to New York and visited the United Nations headquarters, the Empire State Building, St. Paul's Cathedral and other places of interest. The group returned Wednesday night.

Tobacco Industry Plans Check Of Own on Link to Cancer

New York, Jan. 4 (AP)—A tobacco industry research committee has been formed by cigarette manufacturers and tobacco groups to conduct research on "the theory that cigarette smoking is in some way linked with lung cancer."

An advertisement appears today in many major newspapers of the nation that the manufacturers believe "the products we make are not injurious to health."

The display advertisement adds, however, that medical research should not be dismissed lightly "even though its results are inconclusive."

Formation of the committee, which includes all but one major American cigarette manufacturer and several associations of tobacco growers, was announced yesterday. Others may join the committee later, a spokesman said.

Is First Activity

The advertisement, headed "A frank statement to cigarette smokers," was the industry committee's first activity.

The united industry members, the announcement said, have pledged "aid and assistance to the research effort into all phases of tobacco use and health," including financial aid in addition to funds already being contributed by individual companies for medical research.

The committee's advertisement noted statistics purportedly linking lung cancer to cigarette smoking, and also mentioned that some scientists have questioned the significance of recent experiments on lung cancer.

"For more than 300 years," the advertisement declared, "tobacco has given solace, relaxation and enjoyment to mankind. At one time or another during those years critics have held it responsible for practically every disease of the human body. One by one these charges have been abandoned for lack of evidence.

Matter of Concern

"Regardless of the record of the past, the fact that cigarette smoking today should even be suspected as a cause of a serious disease is a matter of deep concern to us."

The advertisement, calling the committee to the industry's answer to questions about "what we are doing to meet the public's concern," declared:

"In charge of the research activities of the committee will be a scientist of unimpeachable integrity and national repute. In addi-

None Hurt in Crash

An automobile driven by Anne M. Purello, 24, of Brooklyn was in collision with one driven by Andrew J. Tubby, 23, of R.D. 4, Kingston, on the Onteora Trail about three miles west of Kingston at 5:10 p.m. Sunday, state police reported. No one was reported injured and no arrest was made. Trooper J. Ripa, who investigated, said Tubby had just entered the eastbound lane of the highway from his driveway when the left rear of his vehicle was struck by the right front end of the other car. The Purello automobile was damaged so that it had to be towed away, the trooper said.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

THE SCRAP-IRON LOVING CUP

Mr. Dan Topping
President, The New York Yankees
745 Fifth Avenue
New York, N. Y.

Dear Dan:

Although we have never been chumbuddies, you and I have been saying hello to each other for a lot of years now, and it has always been my impression that you were a first-rate fellow.

That's still my impression.

Nevertheless, I can't help but say that, if I were awarding the scrap-iron loving cup for the Biggest Bonehead Decision of the Year, I'd have to give the prize to you.

You, of course, know I'm referring to the whopping blunder you made a couple of weeks ago when you and your New York Yankees traded away a Negro outfielder named Victor Pelot Power.

Strictly from the standpoint of showmanship — the only point from which I consider myself qualified to speak — I'd like to give you my reaction to the Aflaire Power, better known in my book as "The Triumph of Intolerance Over Talent."

In August 1950, you paid $7,000 to the ball club in Drummondville, Quebec for Power, and this purchase got you a lot of good press. It seemed to answer the scuttlebutt that you were running a Jim Crow ball club, and that no colored man, no matter how capable, would ever be permitted to play on your lily-white Yankee team.

Shortly after you signed Power, Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers stated that your gesture was so much arkus-malarus, and predicted that the colored lad would never get into the Yankee Stadium unless he bought a ticket. At the time, I and many others quarreled with Jackie's statement and accused him of being a sorehead and a pop-head.

Now let's look at the record.

During the past three years, as you know, Power has given a plenty good account of himself in the minors, and last season, playing for your farm club, the Kansas City Blues, he won the batting crown in the American Association with an average of .349.

In spite of his record, however, late last season, when you and your associates decided the Yanks could use some reserve strength, you passed Power up for a couple of fair-to-muddlin' white men who didn't do themselves or your team any particular good.

Again, the old stories started up — that the Yankee owners were still living in the Little Eva days. And I guess you and Del Webb didn't relish the bad press you were getting because your front office felt called upon to announce that "A player's race will never have anything to do with whether he plays for the Yankees. We will bring up the first player who can make the team."

Nevertheless, two weeks ago, in the middle of the off-season, you suddenly traded Power off to Philadelphia along with several other players. And, as might be expected, the sports writers in New York and elsewhere, remembering Jackie Robinson's prediction, promptly broke their type-writers over your head.

Levintan Is Named Director of Group

Robert J. Levintan, chiropractor, of 319 Wall street, has been appointed a director of the Chiropractic Association of New York State, Inc., with offices at 55 West 42nd street, New York.

This organization, formed recently by a merger of the Federation of Chiropractors of New York, Inc., and the New York State Chiropractic Society, Inc., represents the more than 3,000 chiropractors in New York.

The Chiropractic Association will urge the state legislature to pass chiropractic licensing legislation in the public interest.

Which suit should you develop first when you are playing the hand at a no-trump contract? The longest suit, usually, but it would be foolish to set forth any general rule in this matter. More important than the length of the suit is the question of what damage can be done to you by the opponents while you are developing your tricks.

In today's hand, for example, South loses his contract if he begins by developing his long diamond suit. Declarer wins the opening heart lead with dummy's ace and (mistakenly) leads a diamond. East takes the ace of diamonds and leads a heart through South.

This heart lead from the East player forces out declarer's second heart stopper. South can take four diamonds, two hearts, and two black aces, but when he tries the spade finesse for his ninth trick, West seizes the king of spades and the rest of the hearts to defeat the contract.

All of this can be foreseen if South takes the trouble to think ahead. And South can prevent the defeat if he goes after the spades before he leads diamonds.

Try it out and see. Declarer wins the opening heart lead with dummy's ace and immediately finesses the queen of spades. If the finesse happens to win, all is well. In this case the finesse loses, but West can do no damage.

West cannot afford to lead a heart up to South's king-jack. (In actual play, West may lead a heart in the hope that his partner has the jack; and then South will make three heart tricks instead of only two.) No other suit is dangerous, so West cannot do anything to defeat the contract.

No matter what West returns, South can regain the lead and develop the diamonds. He has already provided for two spade tricks, since dummy's jack of spades will be set up after the first spade finesse loses; and South can also win four diamonds, two hearts, and a club.

Awards Presented To Cub Scouting

Thoughts of Christmas and its aftermath, ending with a prayer of thankfulness by Cub Scout Jeffrey Williams, featured the final meeting of 1953 for Cub Pack 15 Wednesday night at the Comforter Hall. Mr. and Mrs. James Connelly of Stephan street arranged the December meeting.

The Grand Assembly section of the meeting opened with the singing of Jingle Bells and flag ceremony by the Danners of the five dens comprising Pack 15. An induction ceremony followed, in which Kerry Covey was accepted into Den 2 and Duane Baxter into Den 4.

A recognition of 21 Cub Scouts and their families who had joined the Pack in 1953 was held, and then skits were presented by the Dens, featuring the titles of Cub Scouts Give Good Will, The Night After Christmas and The Nativity. Den Chief David Eighmy sang the Lord's Prayer as a solo for one of the skits.

TWO ARE GRADUATED

Cub Scout Roger Nickerson was graduated to Troop 12 and was received by Scoutmaster Ralph Shapiro, and Cub Scout Walter Demskie was graduated to Troop 11 and was received by Scoutmaster Richard Waltman.

A uniform inspection was held during the meeting, and Dens 1 and 2 received 100 per cent, Den 3 98 per cent, and Dens 4 and 5 were credited with 97 per cent.

Frank Rittle was introduced as the new Pack committee chairman, replacing Howard Nickerson who remains with the committee as institutional representative. Other announcements included a minstrel show to be presented at the January pack meeting Jan. 27 by the Cub Scouts under the direction of the Stiling and Rittle families, and the Blue & Gold banquet Feb. 24 under the direction of Den Mothers Lois Williams and Betty Eighmy with Scout Executive George V. Dennis as the speaker and Robert Tremper, Uncle Stumpy, in the role of entertainer.

Awards for the month to the Cub Scouts revealed that Dens 2, 3, 4, 5 all had 100 per cent, with the following awards made:

Den 1: Robert Chipchase and Henry Field, two silver arrows each; William Senkowitz, silver arrow; Ralph Palen, gold arrow;

Den 2: Jeffrey Williams, three silver arrows; Edward Sarkies and Douglas Eighmy, two silver arrows each; Karl Glotz; John Gillen, and Jack Fabiano, silver arrow each; Robert Brown, gold arrow;

Den 3: Silver arrow each to Jack Kelse, Guy Bush, William Bodenweber, Richard Showers, Richard Simms, Richard Stillings, Den 4: Gregory Furman, two silver arrows; Scott Kennedy, gold and silver arrow; Silver arrows to Edmund Yeager, Charles Hill, Daniel Scully, and Roger Nickerson; Den 5: Silver arrows to Bruce Freer, Walter Demskie, Raymond Daniels, Jack McElrath, Ferrell McElrath, Robert Gillen; Gold arrows to Lawrence DeCicco and Paul Noble; and a Wolf badge and gold arrow to Robert Smith.

The Pack meeting closed with the singing of Auld Lang Syne by the entire group and refreshments served by Den 2 under the direction of James Connelly and Clyde Williams.

THINK IT THROUGH

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

In occupied Germany not long ago, a farmer asked an American officer for permission to kill his pig. The officer said: "Why ask me? We have no rules about it."

The German went away, muttering: "It's a heck of a government that won't let you know whether you can kill your own pig."

The farmer thought that the only rights he had were those the government gave him. So it was for centuries. The Magna Charta of 1215 and the British Bill of Rights of 1689 were efforts to get monarch to give up some of the total power they were supposed to have under the doctrine of the "Divine Right of Kings."

From the British document we got the name we have given to the First Ten Amendments to our Constitution.

But perhaps we have misnamed our Bill of Rights, actually it is a "Bill of Prohibition," telling the Government what it can and cannot do.

We, the people, got no rights from the Constitution. We GAVE the Government every right and power it has; not the other way around. We had every right, which we gave the Federal Government, and WE STILL HAVE.

The "inalienable rights" of man come from his "Creator" — not from Government.

There should be no reason for a farmer in Germany or any other place, for that matter, to ask the Government if he can kill a hog. Least of all, there should be no reason for him to do so in the United States.

THE SCRAP-IRON LOVING CUP

Mr. Dan Topping, President, The New York Yankees

745 Fifth Avenue

New York, N. Y.

Dear Dan:

Although we have never been chumbuddies, you and I have been saying hello to each other for a lot of years now, and it has always been my impression that you were a first-rate fellow. That's still my impression.

Nevertheless, I can't help but say that, if I were awarding the scrap-iron loving cup for the Biggest Bonehead Decision of the Year, I'd have to give the prize to you.

You, of course, know I'm referring to the whopping blunder you made a couple of weeks ago when you and your New York Yankees traded away a Negro outfielder named Victor Pelot Power.

Strictly from the standpoint of showmanship — the only point from which I consider myself qualified to speak — I'd like to give you my reaction to the Affairs Power, better known in my book as "The Triumph of Intolerance Over Talent."

In August 1950, you paid $7,000 to the ball club in Drummondville, Quebec, for Power, and this purchase got you a lot of good press. It seemed to answer the scuttlebutt that you were running a Jim Crow ball club, and that no colored man, no matter how capable, would ever be permitted to play on your lily-white Yankee team.

Shortly after you signed Power, Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers stated that your gesture was so much arkus-malarus, and predicted that the colored lad would never get into the Yankee Stadium unless he bought a ticket. At the time, I and many others quarreled with Jackie's statement and accused him of being a sore-head and a pain-in-the-neck.

Now let's look at the record. During the past three years, as you know, Power has given a plenty good account of himself in the minors, and last season, playing for your farm club, the Kansas City Blues, he won the batting crown in the American Association with an average of .349.

In spite of his record, however, late last season when you and your associates decided the Yanks could use some reserve strength, you passed Power up for a couple of fair-to-muddling white men who didn't do themselves or your team any particular good.

Again, the old stories started up that the Yankee owners were still living in the Little Eva days. And I guess you and Don Webb didn't relish the bad press you were getting because your front office felt called upon to announce that "A player's race will never have anything to do with whether he plays for the Yankees." We will bring up the first player who can make the team.

Nevertheless two weeks ago, in the middle of the off-season, you suddenly traded Power off to Philadelphia along with several other players. And, as might be expected, the sports writers in New York and elsewhere, remembering Jackie Robinson's prediction, promptly broke their typewriters over your head.

River Is Dragged For Woman's Body

Nyack, Jan. 4 (P)—Police in small boats dragged the Hudson River today in their search for Mrs. Harold Keahon, 43, wealthy matron who disappeared from her Pearl River, N. Y., home New Year's Eve.

Police Chief Fred Kennedy, of Orangetown, directed the searchers in the Piermont pier area, three miles south of the point where Mrs. Keahon's car was found early New Year's Day. Her wet coat was on the seat.

Kennedy earlier said he was certain she had entered the river and was dead. Mrs. Keahon, wife of a prominent building contractor and mother of four children, had been despondent over an automobile accident last year involving her daughter, Julie, 6. She was the daughter of the late H. J. Burlington, of Montvale, N. J., former president of the Burwak Elevator Co. of New York.

Inquest Is Conducted
Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 4 (P)—The U. S. Army conducted an inquest today into the death of Milton J. Teiger, 45-year-old American attorney found dead in his apartment here yesterday with a pistol by his side. An army spokesman said, "we assume it was suicide—unless further investigation shows otherwise." The consulate said that Teiger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Teiger, of the Bronx, New York, were notified of the death and were asked for burial instructions. Teiger was a widower. Friends said Teiger seemed in good health and spirits when they saw him as late as Saturday.

River Is Dragged For Woman's Body

Nyack, Jan. 4 (P)—Police in small boats dragged the Hudson river today in their search for Mrs. Harold Keahon, 43, wealthy matron who disappeared from her Pearl River, N. Y., home New Year's Eve.

Police Chief Fred Kennedy, of Orangetown, directed the searchers in the Piermont pier area, three miles south of the point where Mrs. Keahon's car was found early New Year's Day. Her wet coat was on the seat.

Kennedy earlier said he was certain she had entered the river and was dead. Mrs. Keahon, wife of a prominent building contractor and mother of four children, had been despondent over an automobile accident last year involving her daughter, Julie, 6. She was the daughter of the late H. J. Burlington, of Montvale, N. J., former president of the Burwak Elevator Co. of New York.

Inquest Is Conducted

Frankfurt, Germany, Jan. 4 (P)—

The U. S. Army conducted an inquest today into the death of

Milton J. Teiger, 45-year-old

American attorney found dead in his apartment here yesterday with a pistol by his side. An army spokesman said, "we assume it was suicide—unless further investigation shows otherwise." The consulate said that Teiger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Teiger of the Bronx, New York, were notified of the death and were asked for burial instructions. Teiger was a widower. Friends said

Teiger seemed in good health and spirits when they saw him as late as Saturday.
